

"He creates fresh new content with very current and engaging angles each time to thoroughly engage the audience. Thoroughly recommend James!"

- P. Rowe

Topics

What's Behind Door no. 1

Live demonstration of electronic lockpicking.

De-Skilling Security by Design

How can we take the need to security-specific knowledge out of the security by design process?

Is Everything on the Internet Trying to Kill You?

Sci-fi films show the internet trying to kill people—is it really as dangerous place as suggested?

Making Security Everyone's Problem

Too often it seems only security specialists worry about security—how can you get everyone else to take ownership of their own security?

No Network is an Island

Boundaries no longer exist, how can we distribute security in an increasingly interconnected world?

PSD2 Opening Banking

What do the Open Banking regulations mean for traditional banks and new FinTechs?

Sending Secret Messages

Workshop teaching basic cryptography from Caesar to Enigma.

Why Work in Cyber Security

What do you need to work in Cyber Security, and why should you want to?

James has a varied and eclectic background in IT security, with expertise covering a range of industry sectors, organisations and IT disciplines. His main passion and focus is on the promotion and improvement of security.

When he is not researching security or preaching the virtues of security best practices, he can be found breaching security with his fascination with locks, keeping bees, running obstacle races and drinking copious amounts of coffee.

From crowded lecture theatres to wine bars and coffee shops he has done his bit to promote the importance of security and plans to continue doing this into the future.

He has an ability to explain complex technical issues in a way appropriate to the audience making it engaging and straightforward.

Testimonials

"James presented at TMHC Isolation Con in April 2020, his talk was engaging, well prepared and insightful. He was a brilliant presenter and I got great feedback from the 500+ people that attended his talk."

- Stuart Peck

Founder@The Many Hats Club

"James has been an excellent and innovative speaker at a number of my events both in the UK and the Middle East. He creates fresh new content with very current and engaging angles each time to thoroughly engage the audience. Thoroughly recommend James!"

- P. Rowe

Director of Events

"We were fortunate enough to work with James on a cutting-edge, cyber security academic programme, and he was immensely valuable. He demonstrated superb skill across several cyber security domains, advising on some of the most important aspects of our curriculum.

He's also a superb speaker and trainer. He volunteered to deliver Cyber School lessons during the COVID lockdown, and his videos were very well received by over 10,000 school students."

- Jonathan Slater

Founder@Capslock

As seen at

Speakerhub Profile

<https://bores.com/speakerhub>

Company Site

<https://bores.com>

Personal Blog

<https://coffeefueled.org>